TRIPLE ALLIANCE BEING OPPOSED IN AMERICAN SENATE

New Light On Agreement Given By Publication Of Its Text

TERMS CRITICISED

Held It Means That U.S. Troops Must Be Kept On Rhine

REFER TO LANSING

Reported He Declared It Violation Of American Constitution

(Asahi Service in Japan Advertiser)

New York, July 8.—The attitude of the American Senate toward the peace treaty and the Franco-American Alliance is not yet definitely known. Senator Knox's resolution to separate the League of Nations proposal from the Peace Treaty was adopted for favorable report by the Foreign Relations Committee, but nothing has been published by the Democratic party organs as regards the Knox resolution.

It is now reported that Senator Knox proposes, after the Peace Treaty and the League of Nations plan have been placed in the hands of the committee, a new motion to permit the discussion on the peace treaty and the League of Nations to be taken up separately. If this motion be approved by the Senate, the discussion of the two subjects would consume considerable time, but it is believed that the committee will approve it since it had passed his other resolution.

There can be little doubt but that there will be strong opposition in the Senate toward the League of Nations and it is more than probable that the Republicans will do their utmost for the reservation of Clause 10 of the League Covenant. It is understood that President Wilson would allow no alteration of the treaty, but, judging from past experience, it is very likely that the Senate will endeavor to exercise its authority by making at least a reservation in respect of this clause, which obligates the members of the League to protect the territorial status quo of each of the League countries.

French Treaty Under Fire

With regard to the Franco-American Alliance, it has been shown that it is fraught with more importance than had been believed. It had been generally understood that America would proceed to the assistance of France only in case she has been unlawfully assailed, but the official publication of the proposed treaty as made in France makes it appear that America gives guarantee in the treaty as to the performance of the terms relating to the Rhine districts. In other words, in the event of Germany's failure to carry out the terms in regard to the Rhine districts it will constitute a sufficient casus belli for the assistance of her ally.

This is considered by the Republican Senators as an undertaking which they are not prepared to endorse. Even supposing that Germany faithfully carries out the terms of the treaty, American troops will have to be stationed in the Rhine districts until Germany shall have fulfilled all the terms of peace. This, it is pointed out, is more than the American people are prepared to agree to, since they are even now clamoring for the withdrawal of all troops from Europe as speedily as possible.

From Various Angles

Even the New York World, which defended the Franco-American Treaty, saying that it is not an offensive alliance, since it is necessary for the realisation of the peace terms, is criticising this portion of the text, inasmuch as it is destined to run for an indefinite period.

Republican papers are attacking the treaty from different angles.

According to a Paris despatch to the World, it is stated that Mr. Lansing suggested to President Wilson that the alliance would constitute a violation of the American Constitution, but he refused to listen to Mr. Lansing's advice. It is further said that M. Clemenceau

Entertain Czech Soldiers At French Park Tomorrow; Food And Funds Required

Call Upon Shanghai To Help Supply Eatables For Dinner And Money To Provide Comforts On Long Sea Voyage

Appeal For $4,000

There is need of $4,000 to furnish necessities and comforts for the contingent during the rest of its trip and remittances should be made to Sir Havilland de Sausmarez, chairman of the executive committee of the Allied War Relief Association, at the British Supreme Court.

Sir Havilland, in a letter to the press, draws attention to the fact that the men, many of whom are convalescent from wounds while many others are suffering from tuberculosis, have no clothing to wear through the tropics other than the heavy service uniforms they wore in Siberia. The officer and doctor in charge have asked for clothes, cigarettes and lime-juice for all and for wine and chocolate for the sick. Many thousands of cigarettes have been donated and the Russian community will make up the rest needed; the B. W. W. A. is finding the needed clothing and the French and American representatives on the A. W. R. A. are helping in the work.

But in addition to the funds available $4,000 is wanted. The Liverpool Maru is scheduled to sail Thursday night and it is necessary that remittances or pledges should be in by Wednesday if possible.

UCHIDA AGAIN DENIES REPORT OF GERMAN PACT

Minister Of Foreign Affairs Declares That Japan Kept Faith With Allies

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, July 19.—A representative of the Kokusai Agency interviewed Viscount Uchida, the Minister for Foreign Affairs, today. During the interview Viscount Uchida made the following statement:

"The absurd story of secret negotiations being conducted between Japan and Germany during the war seems to be again attracting public attention in America. That such a report should be persistently circulated despite the categorical denial made by the Ministry in Tokio and by the Japanese representatives in Peking, Washington, Paris and elsewhere apparently indicates that certain quarters are interested at the present moment in an estrangement of Japan and her friends and have been desperately at work with this ill-advised object in view.

"I declare once more with a clear conscience that Japan has never acted in breach of her plighted faith to her Allies associated in the war."

FRENCH WORKERS BALK AT GENERAL STRIKE PLAN

(Reuter's Service)

SUICIDES IN SHANTUNG ARE DUE TO ODD CAUSE

Money Given To Youth By His Fiancee Leads To Deaths Of Three Persons

(China Press Correspondence)

Taianfu, Shantung, July 19.—An interesting story has just been received from the city of Laiwu near this place. A young man in need sought to borrow money from his fiancee who at first refused but later wrapped several dollars in some cloth which belonged to the boy. In desperation the boy took the cloth to the pawnshop but when the money dropped out he was surprised and decided not to pawn the thing. Unfortunately there had been reported to the police a theft of several dollars from the salt shop. Suspicion immediately rested upon this boy and he was haled into court. Confession was assisted by hanging the boy up by the thumbs but in this case it was too much for a weak constitution and the boy died from exhaustion and suffering.

The fiancee then rushed to the yamen and in the presence of the official discoursed upon the honesty of the dead youth and the sin of the rascal official and all his ancestors and completed her address by committing suicide right on the spot by chopping herself with a pair of shears. When this news reached the ears of the manager of the salt shop he feared that life might not be worth living in the same world with the parents of the two young people and so he followed the boy and girl.

At present the official is being accused before the authorities in Tsinan and it remains to be seen what punishment will be his. The erection of a monument to the victims will probably be all that is required of this man who has plenty of money to influence decisions. It is to be hoped that the occurrence will help to do away with torture in the court room.

TAKE MORE PRECAUTIONS OWING TO EPIDEMIC HERE

Order Ships To U.S. Not To Load Fresh Vegetables; Number Of Cases Increasing

On account of the present epidemic of choleraic diarrhoea and suspicion that cases of cholera may be present in Shanghai the United States Public Health Service here has notified steamship companies having ships sailing to America not to take on board from this port any fresh fruits, vegetables, milk or butter until further notice.

Quarantine regulations are being enforced in all Japan ports with regard to ships sailing from Shanghai.

The epidemic is spreading rapidly in Pootung and a number of cases have also been discovered in Nantao. One hundred and eighty-five cases were handled at the Red Cross Summer Disease Hospital during the week ended July 19, according to the official report of the society.

The society has acquired the new site of the Ningpo Guild on Lloyd Road, where mat sheds have been erected to house the incoming patients. Even with a staff of 14 doctors, the hospital is unable to meet the demand being made upon it, says the report.

Aside from the Japanese cases previously reported no cases among the foreign population have come to notice as yet.

Increase Chief Topic

London, July 11.—The increase in the price of coal is absorbing the public. Manufacturers draw a very gloomy picture of the effects on the home and export trades and estimate the increase will cost the Lancashire cotton industry five millions extra a year and all industries will be affected in proportion.

The miners are furious concerning the Government announcement. Their leaders maintain that 2/6d. is more than sufficient to meet the extra cost of production and challenged the Government to give the figures on which the estimate is based. The Government promptly announced the publication of a White Paper giving detailed returns.

Mr. G. N. Barnes, speaking at Cardiff, said that the Government had discussed the high prices and profiteering and had decided on steps to check the evil. Their decision will be published in a few days.

Strike To Put End To Illegal Shipments Of Rice Is Wholly Successful

(China Press Correspondence)

Wenchow, Chekiang, July 17.—The three-day strike has been successful. President Wilson's fourteen points have nothing on the four points of the Wenchow students, and the Taoyin, after a show of military force, capitulated as gracefully as he could, and the clash of wills is over for the present, at least.

The law against the exporting of rice and wheat is well known here, but since the boycott against Japan has been on, the students have been on the lookout for junks smuggling rice down to Fukien or to Formosa, to be transshipped to Japan. The amateur detectives noticed that a large number of tins being carried out for cargo were bright and clean, evidently not filled with any of the oils usually shipped from here, and on investigation rice was found in them, sometimes covered over with a thin layer of lard. The man back of this illegal transaction was found to be a former Magistrate Liu, and when the matter was taken before the officials the sentence was not severe enough nor was it made public, or at least not in a way to discourage others from attempting the same sort of thing.

Soldiers' Efforts Fail

On Tuesday morning the strike began and though the soldiers tried to compel the shopkeepers to open up, shutters were put up again as soon as the soldiers had passed on and the students came along. Yesterday delegates of the students and merchants presented four points that seemed to them necessary to a just settlement of the case, but the Taoyin refused to act in accordance with them, and this morning put out a proclamation to the effect that in obedience to a telegram from Hangchow, the strike was to be suppressed with force, if needs be, and offenders would be dealt with severely. This incensed the people and although soldiers smashed some of the shop shutters in trying to compel the owners to open the shops, the strike went on more strictly than yesterday, even the vegetable peddlers and chairbearers stopping work. About four o'clock this afternoon we heard that the Taoyin had yielded to the four-fold demand: (1) The offender Liu's hong to be sealed up, at least until the junk, which had sailed away, returned and was confiscated; (2) The two students that had been arrested and detained in the Taoyin's yamen three hours, were to have their reputation publicly restored; (3) Students are authorised to act conjointly with the water police in the search for grain being exported illegally; (4) Any one caught illegally exporting grain is to be fined ten times the amount of the cargo in question.

Parade Ends Strike

A parade this afternoon served the double purpose of restoring the students' "face" and of announcing the end of the strike, and as it passed along the main street, with banners flying and fire-crackers doing their bit to add to the noise, the shutters came down promptly, and even at that hour business began again.

It is to be hoped that the winning of this case will not add to the swelled-headedness of the students, but that it may help in the development of the public-spiritedness of the people and of their recognition of the principle that just laws must be administered without respect of persons.

WASHINGTON COMMENDS ANTI-OPIUM BODY'S WORK

Association Receives Letter From American Acting Secretary Of State

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, July 20.—In a letter from acting Secretary of State Polk to the General Secretary of the International Anti-Opium Association, dated Washington, May 16, Mr. Polk says.

"At the instance of the President I write to commend the purpose and work of the newly-formed International Anti-Opium Association of China. It is particularly opportune that the movement completely to stamp out the opium traffic should receive a fresh impetus at this time when a world-wide moral awakening is putting the forces of good in control of the people's welfare. The curse of the opium traffic is doomed to be abolished along with the other evils which have been impairing the efficiency and marring the happiness of mankind everywhere. Any movement looking to the abolition of this traffic therefore should be encouraged in every possible way.

"The wonderful response China made to a well-nigh universal demand that the traffic shall cease is appreciated to the fullest measure, not only by the President, but by the American people in general. Your Association has a most worthy cause to promote and I wish you and the others engaged in the undertaking the most unremitting success."

BOLSHEVIKI IN SUCHAN ROUTED, TOKIO REPORTS

Americans Aid In Engagement Against Radicals; Denikin Still Advancing

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, July 19.—The War Office issues the following communique:

The Bolshevists in the vicinity of Suchan have been completely dispersed since the landing of our troops at Amerika Bay.

The Bolshevist headquarters at Fialofka are carrying on an assiduous propaganda.

In an engagement on the 16th at Michailofka after our troops had crossed the Ulbo River in the presence of the enemy the latter fled in all directions. The Americans cooperated with us.

Takes Steps To Check Strike

Harbin, July 18.—It is reported from Blagovestchensk that, as the result of a strike of the workmen at the electric power station and the firemen of the town, the Commander of the garrison, Colonel Fedoroff, has issued an order strictly forbidding them to cease work unless they give two weeks' notice, declaring that all attempts at revolutionary propaganda amongst the workmen will be dealt with under martial law.

Small groups of Bolshevists who were dispersed by the Government troops in the Spring and forced to hide in the northern part of Blagovestchensk have now grown bold and are attacking the neighboring villages, but the peasants are bravely opposing them. It is understood that a strong detachment of Cossacks has been despatched to rescue the peasants.

Report About Ekaterinburg

An official communique reports:

The evacuation of Ekaterinburg was necessary owing to a strategical move made by the enemy accompanied by overwhelming pressure all along that front.

In the direction of Orenburg the enemy carried the village of Nijni-Ozernoe but was vigorously counter-attacked and withdrew westward.

In the direction of Samara and Zlatoust all the attempts of the enemy to breach our lines were without result.

The Don Cossacks, in the direction of Arpeda, have destroyed a detachment of the enemy which consisted of Chinese, Letts and Germans, capturing four armored trains, nineteen guns and thirty machine-guns.

The Golos Primoria states that, according to a foreign official source in Vladivostok, General Denikin's army occupies the outskirts of Kursk, the peasants in the Voronesh district have risen against the Bolshevists and joined General Krasnoff and the Cossacks of the latter's army are approaching Voronesh.

KURD GOVERNOR HELD FOR KILLING ARMENIANS

Total Number Of Victims Of Massacres Said To Be Six Hundred Dead

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 14.—Details of the horrible massacres of the Armenians in the Province of Karabagh on June 4 by the Tartars show that they were ordered by Hultanof, the Governor of Karabagh.

The town of Chouchi was attacked, the fortifications captured and the Armenians massacred without pity. The movement spread throughout the country and the Kurds massacred the population of Khaipali, Cargalan, Pasloul and other villages, burning, pillaging or destroying everything and carrying off the women. The total number of dead exceeds 600.

It is reported that the Allied Commander in the Caucasus has arrested Hultanof.

Chung Hua Labor Body Apologises To Bureau

An apology was made yesterday by the Chung Hua Labor Union to the Bureau of Foreign Affairs for publishing a report, alleging that the permit department of the bureau was issuing for monetary consideration permits to enable the rice smugglers to export the cereal to Japan.

The union admitted that its informer, one Yang Tse-chi, had failed to verify the report.

SINGLE BULLET HITS TWO, ONE IS SERIOUSLY HURT

Missile Goes Through Shoulder Of Chinese And Lodges In Another's Chest

An armed robber, hearing a police whistle at Burkill Road early Sunday morning, fired his revolver; the bullet went through the shoulder of a Chinese standing nearby and lodged in the chest of another, puncturing the left lung. Both are at the Shantung Road Hospital and the latter may die. The injured men are fortune tellers who had closed their shop a few minutes before they were shot.

The shooting was a sequel to an armed robbery which took place on Manila Road where three men, one of them with the revolver, held up a Chinese girl who was returning to her home from the Great World on Avenue Edward VII. She was riding in a ricsha and had just entered an alleyway off Manila Road when she was held up by the three men, one of them firing a shot.

The trio then ran to Burkill Road where a Chinese police constable started after them, blowing his whistle. The armed man turned and fired, hitting the two fortune tellers.

Alliance Opposed By American Senate

published the text of the treaty without the approval of Mr. Wilson.

As there is opposition, not only among the Republicans but also among the Democrats, the ratification of the treaty by the Senate is going to be very difficult of accomplishment.

Will Meet Committee Senators

It is expected that President Wilson will shortly invite the members of the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate to the White House, to reach an understanding with them in regard to the peace treaty, on which occasion it is believed that the President will be subjected to a cross-fire of queries on the knotty points in the peace terms.

Senator Borah declares that Mr. Lansing, Mr. White and General Bliss lodged protests with President Wilson with regard to the Shantung question, but that the latter ignored their protests. "Yet," says Mr. Borah, "there is no need for us to hear Mr. Lansing's explanation, since the terms of the treaty are quite plain in themselves and they should be taken at their face value."

Many other Senators entertain the desire to reserve some one or other clause of the treaty and it is feared that President Wilson's speech however able, will not be able to influence these opposing Senators in his favor. It is not at all improbable that the discussion over the ratification of the treaty will last weeks, or even months.

CHINA BANK INTERESTS ORGANISE AT MEETING

Resolutions Are Adopted By Shareholders Here Opposing Changes

As an outgrowth of the recent attempt of the Peking Parliament and the An Fu Club to turn the Bank of China into a party treasury, the union of the Merchant Shareholders of the Bank of China was formally organised at a meeting of over 200 representatives of Shanghai and various other cities of China Saturday at the former German Bank. Resolutions were passed and officers elected for the new organisations. Decisions of the meeting were made public in a formal declaration given out by the authorities yesterday.

The declaration reads in part:—

"For the maintenance of the good faith of the Government, the welfare of the financial system of the country and the rights of the merchant shareholders of the Bank of China, we, the Union of the Merchant Shareholders, desire to present the following resolutions which were passed at a public meeting, to the country:

"No amendment should be made to the present Constitution and by-laws of the bank before the conclusion of peace between the North and the South. Even after the conclusion of peace, the Constitution should not be amended until a majority of the merchant shareholders wish it so.

"In spite of the provisions of the constitution that the capital could be increased to $60,000,000, we have decided that no increase be made for the present as the present political situation and the business of the bank do not necessitate such increase.

"A set of rules be promulgated to improve the value of the Peking notes. Such rules to be enforced as an experimental measure for three months only."

Fifteen committeemen were elected by the meeting. They are Messrs. Song Ti-san, chairman, Meng Cheng-sung, vice-chairman, Pei Chen-sung, Loh Wei-yung, Shao Tso-chun, Wu Wu-san, Kiang Hsian-pu, Yang Tseng-hsiang, Hsu Shen-shu, Chang Yin-sung, Hsia Hu-chen, Tsai Heng-wu, Hu Pei-ping and Li Tsing-cheng.

The number of shares represented at the organisation meeting was 51,796.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

Physicians Prescribe Castoria.

CASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmaceutical societies and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: 1st, The indisputable evidence that it is harmless; 2nd, That it not only allays stomach pains and quiets the nerves, but assimilates the food; 3rd, It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for castor oil. It is absolutely safe. It does not contain any opium, morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike Soothing Syrups, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a medical journal to say. Our duty, however, is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health, by regulating the system—not by stupefying it—andour readers are entitled to the information.—Hall's Journal of Health.

"I have used your Castoria in the case of my own baby and find it pleasant to take, and have obtained excellent results from its use."

"I find your Castoria to be a standard family remedy. It is the best thing for infants and children I have ever known and I recommend it."
R. E. ESKILDSON, M. D.,

"I take pleasure in recommending your Castoria, having recommended its use in many instances, and consider it the best laxative that could be used, especially for children."
NATHANIEL K. KING, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.

Having during the past six years prescribed your Castoria for infantile stomach disorders, I most heartily commend its use. The formula contains nothing deleterious to the most delicate of children."

"Tomsk is the only western Siberian station of the A. R. C. which runs a soup kitchen. Its location is for the summer in the refectory of the University and great care is taken to restrict its operation to those absolutely in need. It constitutes the largest single item in the bill of expense of our civilian work there. We are fortunate in having at Omsk a municipal feeding station that relieves us almost wholly of this item of expenditure.

"Our Tomsk representatives are the only ones in western Siberia that now maintain barracks for refugees. There are three of these, a large barracks near Station II and two smaller ones at the Immigration Station. They are remarkably clean. Having nearby bathhouses where the inmates may take a weekly bath, they are far less likely to become centers of contagion than the ordinary city supervised barracks. If the A.R.C. in Omsk should carry out a project of dugout building it will be interesting next winter to compare the health records of this style of refugee housing with those of the Tomsk barracks. Miss Matthew is very anxious to erect another barracks to accommodate the demands of the refugee situation there.

"Two farms, one of 120 acres and a second of 15 acres, worked by refugees, constitute another most promising feature of this station's enterprise. Much of the ground has al-

Filipinos And 15th Battle Until Darkness; No Score

Game Is Called At End Of First Half Of Ninth; Meyers And Gooslaw In Pitching Duel

Shanghai and the Navy are scheduled to play at the Race Course this afternoon. The game will start at 5:15 o'clock. Gill and Hopkins are announced as the opposing pitchers.

Darkness halted yesterday's game between the 4th Philippine Infantry and the 15th U.S. Infantry. Neither team had scored when Umpire Jimmy Logan called a halt at the end of the first half of the ninth inning. When the darkness fell there was a sickening thud for the rooters had settled down in anticipation of another extra-inning session at the Race Course.

Some 200 Czecho-Slovak soldiers off the Liverpool Maru occupied the right bleachers as guests of the Central Committee of the American Red Cross. The Czechs marched to the Race Course and entered the gate singing a martial song. Members of the American Woman's Club served refreshments for the soldiers during the game.

The game was a pitchers' duel between Meyers and Gooslaw and both men were at top form. Meyers pulled out of a bad hole in the ninth when the Tientsin team bunched two singles and Gooslaw showed speed going from first to second. Meyers, with the bases filled, fanned both Drinkard, the cleanup man, and Ward.

Pitchers Break Even

Twice Gooslaw yanked himself clear from holes but he had it easier for two were under when he was obliged to extend himself. Meyers allowed three hits, Gooslaw was touched for four. Meyers fanned 11, Gooslaw struck out two less. It was a pretty even proposition.

Six of the first eight innings saw the 15th Infantry trot up three batters. Nunns was hit by a pitched ball in the fourth and Gibbens singled in the sixth. The latter stole but it availed him nothing as Meyers fanned Owens. Incidentally Nunns has been hit four times in as many games.

The ninth was when Meyers was in danger and he came through nobly. Gooslaw led off with a single to left. Gibbens laid one down and was safe when Gooslaw beat Meyers' throw for the force out at second. Owens tried to bunt and was hit by the batted ball, the first out. Nunns singled to left, filling the bases.

Darkness was gathering and Meyers used his speed to good advantage, fanning Drinkard and Ward.

Steil Triples First

The nearest the Philippine team came to scoring was in the opening session when Steil tripled to deep right after Lorenzo and Ylanan had fanned. Meyers rolled to Horan and was out at first.

With two down in the fourth, Meyers and Birtulpo both hit safely. Dupris got DeChaves' grounder, tossed the ball to Maguire, the latter touching Meyers as he was tearing for third.

Lorenzo singled in the sixth. Ylanan bunted perfectly. Maguire was laying for it, getting the ball to Gibbens in time to force Lorenzo at second. Steil's infield out moved Ylanan along. Meyers fanned.

The Filipinos died in order in the second, third, fifth, seventh and eighth.

Nine of the eleven strikeouts by Meyers came in five innings. He fanned Drinkard for the last out in the fourth, struck out three men in order in the fifth and fanned the first two men to face him in the sixth. Drinkard whiffed again in the seventh and again in the ninth.

Shanghai-Filipino Battle Thrills Sunday Crowd

The 4th Philippine Infantry outhit and outfielded Shanghai in the second game of the doubleheader Sunday. Birtulpo's performance on the mound was better by far than Gill's. Yet the locals chased the Filipinos 13 innings before the game went Manilawards by a 2-1 score. The Navy lost to the 15th Infantry of Tientsin in the first game. The score was 4-1 and the soldiers had little trouble until Hopkins, after pitching a great game on Saturday, relieved Hunt in the box.

Admiral Yamahoka of the Japanese Navy pitched the first ball that started the doubleheader. He was introduced by Vice Admiral W. L. Rodgers, U.S.N.

The second game was the hummer. Featured by spectacular fielding and punctuated by brilliant pitching by both hurlers, the 13-inning battle held the big crowd waiting for the break for over two hours.

Seldom has such fielding been seen here. French in right field made a wonderful shoe-string grab after a long run. Johnny Scott made two great catches. Lorenzo, the Filipino left fielder, dove for a low fly after a hard run and although he turned a complete somersault after the drive, held the pill. Wilhoit and DeChaves saved their infielders again and again by faultless fielding, both men digging several bad throws out of the dirt. Gonzales in center plucked one with his gloved hand while travelling at full speed. Steil and Crow played stellar ball at third base. Cooper and Ylanan made good stops. Smith went back in deep center to get a long fly after a long run. Both Montgomery and Bradley worked well behind the bat, the Manila catcher besting the local backstop. Montgomery got the most out of his pitcher, Birtulpo.

Big Joe Birtulpo And Gill

Big Joe Birtulpo fanned an even dozen and allowed but two hits, both of them of the scratch variety. Wilhoit got a single by throwing his bat at the ball. Bradley's pop over Steil's head went for a safety when the Manila third baseman figured that Lorenzo ought to have made the catch.

Gill was as steady as a clock and pitched good ball. But while Birtulpo was growing stronger as the game wore on, Gill didn't gain power. Many of the fans called for a shift in hurlers in the 12th but the advisability of the change can well be questioned for Scott had pitched a hard game the day before and would have gone on the mound cold.

Cooper's single, Bradley's sacrifice and Birtulpo's error gave the locals the lone tally. It happened in the second. With Cooper on second, Hoffman hit one between Birtulpo and DeChaves. The latter made the stop and tossed to Birtulpo as the pitcher ran over to cover the bag. Birtulpo dropped the ball and Cooper scored.

The fifth saw the score tied. After Hoffman had thrown out DeManzana, he booted DeChaves' roller and then threw it wild, DeChaves going to second. Montgomery hit one on a line to right. It was a low line drive and looked good for at least two bases until French made his wonderful grab.

Filipinos Tie Score

French threw over Crow's head to get DeChaves at third and while Crow and Scott were hurdling ropes and benches in their desperate attempt to retrieve the ball, DeChaves scored the tying run.

Shanghai had two men on in the sixth and another in the seventh. Lorenzo was caught at the plate in the ninth by Hoffman's perfect throw to Bradley. The tenth and 11th innings saw both sides go out in order. A double play stemmed a Filipino offensive in the 12th while Shanghai again went out in order.

With one down in the 13th, Colixto singled. So did Lorenzo, Colixto going to third. Scott got Ylanan's fly and it looked like another session. Steil, after making three hits, might have been given four wide ones but Gill took the chance.

Steil hit to Wilhoit, the ball took an ugly bounce and hit Cy in the shoulder, and Colixto scored, giving the Filipinos the edge on the 2-1 score. Birtulpo flied out to Scott.

In the Shanghai 13th Bradley rolled to Steil and was out at first. Ylanan got Hoffman, Smith fanned.

HONGKONG HAS ANOTHER DAY OF CELEBRATION

American Consul General Is One Of List Of Speakers At Reception

(Reuter's Service)

Hongkong, July 19:—Speaking on behalf of the Consular Body at the reception at Government House, the American Consul-General tendered greetings and felicitations of his colleagues and himself to the Governor. During the period of superhuman struggle all had been under more or less of a strain in their relations at times with the government of the colony, at times with each other and there are reasons which render the felicitation something more than part of the Pageant's celebration. He would fail to express the sentiments of his colleagues, he said, as well as his own, if he neglected the opportunity of expressing appreciation of the part taken by Great Britain and all the Dominions, including Hongkong, in attaining peace.

He paid a tribute to the traditions of the British race, the loyalty and fidelity of Britishers and the faith and fortitude of British women when the clarion call to arms rang round the world.

The Governor replied that he was happy they met that day in an atmosphere cleared by the Treaty of Peace. He acknowledged the great assistance the members of the Consular Body had afforded in clearing up and straightening out many difficult situations.

Luncheon Is Given

Today the Celebrations Committee gave a luncheon to over two hundred guests at the Hongkong Hotel, the Governor being the guest of honor. Among those present were the members of the Executive and Legislative Councils, the judges and principal ecclesiastical authorities, the Allied consuls, representatives of the army and navy and men who have returned from the front and also members of the mercantile marine who served in the war and six representatives of all the Allied nations resident in the Colony.

The Allied guests were received in groups, headed by their respective consuls, to the strain of their national anthems and the scene was very pompous when each group mounted the grand staircase under the folds of the Allied flags.

The chairman, Sir Paul Chater, proposed the toast of "The King," the band playing the National Anthem.

Mr. Stanley H. Dodwell, proposing the toast of "Our Guests," paid a tribute to the indomitable work of the mercantile marine and alluded to the part taken by the women, whose work was the hardest of all. He regretted that, owing to lack of room, it had not been possible to invite ladies to the luncheon but, if not present in person, women were in the hearts of them all. In conclusion he said "T all our Allied friends and guests our hearts go out today in feelings of thanks and gratitude, especially to those who [illegible] front; for their endur- [illegible] untold hardship [illegible] gratitude [illegible]

Fire-Works Display

There was another large display of fire-works from the floats in the harbor this evening, but a fish-lantern procession on shore, organised by the Chinese, was substituted for the illuminated water dragon last night. The procession was a novel spectacle, a great variety of marine monsters preceding representations of land animals and birds, interspersed with gaily dressed Chinese girls carried in fairy-like litters, masked jesters and bands playing foreign and Chinese music, the outstanding feature of the procession being a serpent a hundred and fifty feet long.

The celebrations are concluding in the midst of scenes of general jubilation, not the least feature of which is the pleasure and delight afforded to hundreds of thousands of Chinese, who have displayed the orderliness and good-humor characteristic of Oriental crowds. The ceremonies and entertainments have been carried out in a manner befitting the best traditions of the administration of a British Crown Colony and all classes and races have participated in them without discrimination.

UNIVERSITY AND SCHOOL WILL BE BUILT AT AMOY

Donation Of $4,000,000 Made By Tan Kah-ki To Build Two Institutions

Amoy, July 7, 1919.—Announcement of the establishment of a university and a high normal school has been made by Mr. Tan Kah-ki, the Chimbe, Amoy, millionaire, who will contribute $4,000,000 towards the fund of the institutions. The schools will be erected on the Military Recreation Ground in front of the Nanputo Temple of this port.

At a meeting held July 13 at Pusu, Amoy, which was attended by the local officials, Mr. Tan gave a detailed account as to how the contribution is to be allotted to the branches of work of the establishment. The school buildings will cost $500,000 and $400,000 will be spent in the purchase of instruments and apparatus for laboratory work in agriculture and other scientific subjects. The sum of $100,000 will be devoted to the preliminary expenses for the inauguration of the schools. The balance of $3,000,000 will be deposited with certain banks and its yearly interest of $120,000 will be paid over to the schools for running expenses within the next 25 years.

Besides the military ground, which is offered gratis by the Government, other adjourning property will be purchased to complete the huge site for the schools. It is expected that the contruction work will be completed in two years.

A COMMON COMPLAINT OF CHILDHOOD

Many children in this country are troubled with worms, some of the indications of which are irregular appetite, bad breath, grinding of the teeth in sleep, pain and swelling of the abdomen, irritation in the nose. Baby's Own Tablets, the Canadian children's remedy, given for a few days destroy worms, and a marked improvement in appetite and general health speedily follows.

Mrs. A. Sauvie, of Rowantan, Quebc, writes: "My boy was badly troubled with worms and was feverish and restless. I got a vital of Baby's Own Tablets and since giving them to him all signs of the worms have disappeared and he is now in good health. I think Baby's Own Tablets have no equal as a medicine for this trouble."

Guaranteed free from opiates and absolutely harmless even to the youngest infant, Baby's Own Tablets are a remedy for indigestion, constipation, simple fever, diarrhoea and teething troubles. They are obtainable from chemists, also at 60 cents the vial post free from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

Banking Service with AMERICA —direct and personal

EXPORTERS or importers now engaged in, or thinking of, trade with America would do well to consider not only the special nature of our facilities, but also the personal interest we take in every one of our customers' transactions.

First of all, we offer direct banking service—without intermediary dealings, or unnecessary delays.

Equally important is our personal service. Every transaction is followed through, both here and in America, by our own representatives with a personal interest, the value of which is evident in the service rendered.

May we talk with you about America?

Chengtu Students Make Farce Of Strike Effort

(China Press Correspondence)

Chengtu, Szechuen, July 1.—Our Chengtu students have had their fling and are quieting down again. The fuss and protest they made over Shantung was laudable enough if the students had been gifted with good leaders. Party interests, however, appeared in the back ground and marred the result. It had not the unanimous backing on this account which the cause demanded.

Later things degenerated altogether when the zeal of our colleges was skilfully turned into an anti-British agitation over Tibet. It was asserted the foreigners wanted the marches. Indeed a British army was solemnly declared to have appeared somewhere west of Yachow. How such a yarn could have been credited it is hard to say—just as hard as it was to explain the story in England in 1914 of a Russian army having passed through that country to France—anyway it was believed and the hot-bloods got roused to fury against British infamy.

It would be difficult to say who is laughing up his sleeve at such student antics. One can guess, however, and it is safe to say he is quite a bit of a humorist, not to mention his rare skill in tiring out the energy of the college bodies and keeping away protest from any of the local government misdoings.

Even the Union University has had its exciting times. Some of the students there had perforce to join in the anti-Japanese propaganda. Then here too it speedily turned to an anti-foreign, anti-Christian agitation. One fellow, long known to have a mania for being a leader, saw a chance of having a go at one of the foreigners and promptly took it. He was joined by another of similar caliber. It seems the foreign builder at the University got exasperated one day at a workman for culpably bad work and forcibly elbowed him off his job. The Chinese foreman and his fellow workmen are said to have supported the case of the foreign builder. But these two students, wanting to make a row, collected a rabble of middle school boys, servants and outsiders, had the audacity to walk into a University hall and raise a turmoil for several hours. If the foreigner did not make a written apology they let it be known that the whole building was in danger. It is alleged also they refused to let him communicate by phone with the Consul. Not knowing much Chinese, this foreigner fearing extremities, consented to do so. The next step taken was to publish the apology in one of the local newspapers!

Naturally other foreigners here became annoyed. At present it is under consideration whether steps shall be taken or not to prosecute these two students for inciting to riot. The sad thing about it, if true, is that these same two young men have had their University expenses largely paid by American and missionary help.

The Civil Governor has returned to Chengtu after being away some time at Chungking. Of course he is, more or less, of a figurehead. But figureheads sometimes have uses. If he has character behind he will do something to stop the flood of opium that is overflowing Szechuen. How terribly sad it is to see this province being enslaved again by the curse. One more year and it will be possible to say that the last state of Szechuen is worse than the first, for it was cast out and is coming back again stronger than before.

SHANGHAI, JULY 22, 1919

When Destiny Hung In The Balance

LITTLE by little the secrets of the world war, the vast network of hidden processes, are coming to light for all men to judge. It is awe ing to read now how the scales of destiny turned in the councils of Europe that first fateful year of the war. In one of his latest instalments of his memoirs of his command of the British Army in 1914 Viscount French tells with fascinating simplicity and brevity of one decision that helped determine the future of Europe.

Early in January, 1915, after the French-British-Belgian armies had defeated the Germans in the first Battle of Ypres, the Germans' first unsuccessful attempt to destroy the British Army and seize Calais and the other Channel ports, Lord (then Sir John) French proposed to the British War Council that he be authorised to undertake an offensive calculated to recapture Zeebrugge and Ostend. These ports were already being turned into submarine bases by the Germans and the menace an aggressive submarine campaign constituted was already foreseen. This proposal was debated by the Council and rejected. That decision—whether wise or unwise few men will dare to say in this generation—was momentous. For it carried with it the alternative decision to seek victory in other theaters, out of which the Gallipoli campaign resulted.

The War Council's position was set forth in a memorandum to French, which he quotes in his book, as printed in instalments by the Japan Advertiser. It follows:

"With regard to the proposed advance to Zeebrugge, the First Lord's telegram, No. 2,623, sent to you on January 2, explained the difficulties imposed on the Admiralty by the development of Zeebrugge as a base for submarines, and the War Council realised that one of your principal motives in suggesting an offensive to effect the capture of Ostend and Zeebrugge was to ease the naval position.

"On a general review, however, of the whole situation, naval and military, the Council came to the conclusion that the advantages to be obtained from such an advance at the present moment would not be commensurate with the heavy losses involved, as well as the extension that would be thus caused to the lines of the Allies in Northern Flanders.

"The Council was also influenced in this conclusion by the following considerations: The first of these was that the reinforcements of fifty battalions of territorial troops, which you considered indispensable, could only be supplied at a considerable dislocation of the organisation of the future reinforcements to be sent to you. It must be borne in mind that the original organisation of the territorial force included no provision for drafts. Great difficulties have already been encountered in providing drafts for your command, and, although arrangements for the necessary machinery to create a special reserve for the territorials are in hand, it would not at present be possible to supply fifty more battalions with drafts without an entire reorganisation of the forces allotted to home defense, and this would modify the program for reinforcements to join our army in the future.

"The second consideration was that it is impossible at the present time to maintain a sufficient supply of gun ammunition on the scale which you considered necessary for offensive operations. Every effort is being made in all parts of the world to obtain an unlimited supply of ammunition, but, as you are well aware, the result is still far from being sufficient to maintain the large number of guns which you now have under your command adequately supplied with ammunition for offensive purposes.

"You have pointed out that offensive operations under the new conditions created by this war require a vast expenditure of artillery ammunition, which may, for even ten or twenty days, necessitate the supply of fifty or one hundred rounds per gun per day being available, and that, unless the reserve can be accumulated to meet expenditure of this sort, it is unwise to embark on extensive offensive operations against the enemy in trenches. It is, of course, almost impossible to calculate with any accuracy how long offensive operations, once undertaken, may last before the object is attained, but it is evident that the breaking off of such operations before accomplishment, owing to the want of artillery ammunition and not on account of a successful termination or a convenient pause in the operations having been reached, might lead to a serious reverse being sustained by our forces.

"The abandonment of the Zeebrugge project does not prevent you from co-operating to the utmost extent, compatible with your present resources, with any offensive movement contemplated by General Joffre, and your previous instructions in this sense are in no way modified.

"The Council further thought that there were certain indications, which should not be neglected, of German reinforcements reaching their armies in the western theater in the near future, which may lead German commanders to undertake a fresh attempt to force the lines you and the French army hold. If this movement should develop, it could probably be better met and defeated by holding your present lines of prepared positions than by extending the line to the Dutch frontier and pushing the Belgian army in probably a more exposed position than they now occupy. You may rest assured that, as they become available, fresh troops will be sent to you with the least possible delay to strengthen your forces as far as is practicable. The Twenty-eighth Division has already received orders to leave for France on the 14th instant."

To this view Field Marshal French took marked exception. In that he was apparently supported by Winston Churchill, then First Lord of the Admiralty, who also wanted the submarine menace met at the start and offered naval co-operation. But he was opposed by Marshal Joffre, who took the position also that the British army should be conserved as a reserve force to meet a new offensive which he foresaw, rightly, in the near future. French, however, makes a telling rebuttal of these arguments, as follows:

"Lord Kitchener's objections can be easily answered. They may be generally stated thus:

"1. That the seizure from the Germans of this strip of seacoast would not be an adequate return for the heavy losses likely to be incurred in the operation.

"2. That the line then to be held would be unduly extended.

"3. That the reinforcement of the additional troops demanded "would only be supplied at a considerable dislocation of the organisation of the future reinforcements to be sent you.

"4. That the supply of gun ammunition on the scale demanded would be impossible.

"5. That embarking on such an enterprise would prejudice our power of resisting a possible German counter-offensive in the immediate future.

"My answer to (1) is this:—Had we been in possession of the Belgian coast line between Nieuport and the Dutch frontier in the early part of 1915, and had we maintained it to the end of the war, the Germans would have been deprived in a great measure of the power they have exercised throughout with such success to prosecute their submarine campaign. Any price we might have had to pay in the way of losses would have been well worth the object attained.

"In a lesser degree this may be said of the enemy's aircraft enterprises. I claim that the naval history of this war clearly bears out my contention.

"As to (2), the extent of the line to be held would depend upon the degree of success attained by the operations. If we had been able to make good our advance from the left flank (between Nieuport and Dixmude) by means of powerful naval support from the sea, the least we should have effected would have been to clear the Germans out of the triangle Nieuport-Dixmude-Zeebrugge.

"If the operation had then to be suspended, we should have had to hold the line Dixmude-Zeebrugge instead of Dixmude-Nieuport. In actual distance the former space is about double the latter. But our position at Zeebrugge would have afforded a large measure of naval support, and the country to the southwest of that place lends itself to inundations. This would have enabled us to occupy the north-eastern portion of the line in much less strength. Further, it was just in anticipation of such a necessity that the extra troops were asked for.

"Inasmuch, however, as such a situation would have forced upon the enemy the necessity of holding a dangerous and exposed salient which could be reached on the north side by our guns from the fleet, it is more than possible that he would have effected such a retirement as would have considerably shortened our line.

"(3) This contention is disputed; but even if it were true it is no sound military argument against embarking on an operation which promised such valuable results.

"(4) There is a complete answer to the objection. Some two or three months later large trainloads of ammunition—heavy, medium and light—passed by the rear of the army in France en route to Marseilles for shipment to the Dardanelles.

"(5) The best possible means of warding off an attack is to take a strong and powerful initiative.

"I cannot characterise these reasons for rejecting my plans as other than illogical, and I feel sure they must really have appeared so to their authors."

But the War Council remained firm, the offensive was never attempted, the abortive holocaust of the Dardanelles took place instead and Ostend and Zeebrugge nearly resulted in the starvation of the British Empire two and half years later. Whether the proposed offensive would have been successful and thereby shortened the war or whether it would have failed and by weakening the Allied armies opened a road for the Germans in the second Battle of Ypres the following Spring is in the realm of the unknowable. But this much can be known, that had such decisions been made by the Allies acting in uniformity, their army commanders as well as their cabinets, the mistakes would have been minimised in their effects, if not avoided, and victory would have come sooner and to the saving of thousands upon thousands of lives. It took the Allies four years to learn that lesson, and then they learned it only in the face of disaster. The hope of civilisation is this, that the work of healing the war's wounds be entrusted to men more competent to bear that responsibility than those who held our fate in their hands during the war.

Proof That Short Hours Are Efficient

That men accompilsh more in short spells of severe labor broken by longer spells of rest is illustrated by the story of a wager between two officers at the front as to the time necessary to dig two equal lengths of a trench each with an equal number of men. Major A. C. Farquharson told it to the British House of Commons in a debate on hours of labor.

One officer let his men work as they pleased, but as hard as possible. The other divided his men into three squads, to work in rotation, each squad digging its hardest for five minutes and then resting for ten. The second squad won easily.

Keep Step Better With No Music

Walter Moore Coleman writes to Science from Cambridge, England, calling attention to the fact that the only time soldiers keep perfect step is when they are without sound signals, such as the beat of a drum. And he explains it thus: "Sound travels about 1,060 feet per second at 0° C., or 265 feet in one-fourth second The soldier next the drummer steps with the drum-beat, the soldier 265 feet in the rear is one-fourth second late and has his foot in the air when the foot of the front man is on the ground. This is because they march at 120 steps per minute (two steps per second), which gives one-half a step in one-fourth second. Hence the soldier who hears the signal one-fourth second late will fall one half step behind. The feet are seen to strike the ground in receding waves as the sound passes down the line. If the drum stops, the men in two or three seconds get into perfect step again and go with a sway and swing absent at other times.

A Story Of Poland's Terrible Need

The following article giving a good description of the deplorable after-war conditions in Poland has been received from Dr. Lionel Street, formerly of the medical office of Ranzom and Street, here, who is now serving in Eastern Europe as a major in the Medical Corps with the American Red Cross:

By Dr. Lionel Street

The following sketch of things seen and impressions gathered, as a member of the Red Cross Commission to Poland, while on a tour of inspection, may serve to visualise existing conditions.

The country between Bialystok and Warsaw is in parts swampy and in other parts sandy. Sand dunes here and there relieve the monotony of an otherwise level country, and they are sometimes covered with pines, which seem to thrive where other forms of vegetation fail to obtain a foothold. Some attempt has been made to grow grain, but the amount of land under cultivation is pitifully inadequate, and, to make bad matters worse, the Bug River has overflowed its banks and thousands of acres of farm land have been transformed into a temporary lake. A scarcity of horses and cattle exists throughout the country as the Russians, Germans and Austrians carried off all but about 20% of the original stock.

At one of the stations we passed, an immense heap of skeletons of dead horses marred the landscape, while at another we saw a number of returning refugees, and in this connection we were impressed by a particularly pitiful sight of three small children with their father, camping on the station platform, sadly emaciated, and ragged; it seemed that they had reached the limit of human endurance as they lay on the several coarse sacks which contained all their worldly goods. The mother had succumbed to the hardships of the journey from Russia, most probably sacrificing her own life that her children might live. Three years in a prison camp had inured them (as many more of the thousands I have subsequently seen) to suffering, and they took the bread and lard and cake of chocolate we gave them without thanks or even change of countenance; children in years, but old and saddened in experience. They go where they are driven, and take what is given, making no complaint; as a journalist has aptly put it; "The reservoirs of common emotion have been long since exhausted." The ages of these three were, I should think, 4, 5, and 8, a period of life when we are accustomed to seeing normal children play with all the vivacity of youth. Multiply this little scene by millions, and you have a picture of what the war has been responsible for throughout Europe, and it is up to you and to me, as well as every right minded man and woman throughout the world, to contribute his or her share towards setting things right.

Camp In Deplorable Condition

Spent a day at Bialystok where we have a Red Cross Unit and warehouse for supplying the Department of the East. In company with the City Doctor, we made a tour of the hospitals and refugee camps, finding them all in a deplorable condition, the Germans having looted everything worth taking. A lack of the simplest surgical instruments and practically no medicines, dressings, or even the ordinary hospital linen, and no soap, made us feel that the doctor was justified when he threw up his hands and asked to be sent to the "Front." A large textile mill, capable of employing several thousand, but idle (because the Germans had carried off or destroyed the machinery for the metal it contained) is used for housing returning refugees, and as their number increased every day (1,600 to 3,000 passing through daily and many having to be kept and cared for) it is becoming overcrowded. Men, women and children, well and sick alike, are all huddled together, and, in addition to their other miseries, they are infected by the body louse, which is the active cause in the spread of typhus, now prevalent in this country. Seventy percent of the population here is Jewish, and there is a good deal of tuberculosis. The situation is grave, and the Red Cross is doing a work no other organisation could undertake with any hope of success, and it is one of the activities to which this wonderful society has dedicated itself for some time to come.

A fine church building, near the military barracks, was utilised by the Germans as a farrier's shop, and the sign is still over the front door "Hufeisendepot."

Countryside Is Deserted

Between Bialystok and Grodno, the country has been cultivated more, and wheat and barley are beginning here and there to show their green shoots above the ground. The people, too, appear better clothed, and one sees more cattle. Woods break the monotony of the landscape and the birch trees, with their graceful lines, divide popularity with the more useful pine. As far as the eye can reach, on either side of our train, stretches land formerly under cultivation, but from which industrious and home loving farmers and peasants, in fear of what the Germans might do to them, accompanied the Russian Army, in its retreat, and in consequence has returned to its primitive state. It, however, only needs labor and seed to make it once more productive. The laborer is slowly coming back, but Oh! so broken in body and spirit! Husbands who have lost their wives, or children, or both; women whose husbands have been killed or died from cruelty or neglect; children returning as orphans in the care of people who have little enough for their own meager wants, and all too weak from exposure and want to be able immediately to either work in the fields or to rebuild their ruined homes.

Two fine bridges leading into Grodno have been blown up, but temporary repairs to the third enables trains to go over very slowly. This city, evacuated just a week ago by the Germans, is famous in history as the place where Catherine the Great forced Stanislaus, the King of Poland (her former lover) to convene a diet for a second partition of this unfortunate country. This occurred in 1793. The castle, still standing, was surrounded by troops and artillery, and the members of the diet imprisoned, the King included, until the treaty was signed, the latter part of the proceedings being carried out in silence; hence the name given in history "Dumb Diet."

There is typhus here as elsewhere, and the same cry of lack of supplies, food and clothing, and no facilities for delousing or in other ways preventing the spread of this loathsome disease. We are making every effort to establish disinfecting stations, distribute food and clothing and assist the local authorities in organising permanent relief, and for this and the other activities being carried on in different parts of the world and in our own country, the Red Cross will need constant and loyal support which will no doubt be gladly given. In the meantime "Service" will continue to be our watchword.

People Dying Thoughout Country

Our next stop was at Lida, from which place the Bolsheviki were driven out less than three weeks ago. The same story greeted our ears: typhus fever, inadequate hospital accommodations, hospital equipment, medicines, food and clothing urgently needed. People are dying throughout the country and small wonder, as they are living largely on weeds and edible roots, etc., in fact, any thing they can find which is not poisonous, they even sell their last articles of clothing in order to satisfy the pangs of hunger.

The Germans evacuated this place last December. Certainly the poor Poles have gone through enough in the years past to take the courage out of them, and yet they are cheerful and optimistic, altogether a nation worth assisting in their efforts to reconstruct their country. Their officials are patriotic, but need experience in governing, as in the past they have had little voice in administration, being subject to their Muscovite masters.

Their doctors are well trained and just need the moral and financial support of the Allies to put their institutions on an efficient basis. It may be appropriate to say here that after all, figuratively speaking, typhus is more a sympton than a disease, and that if the economic, industrial and agrarian programs are dealt with intelligently, this and other purely industrial diseases will automatically disappear.

Marks Of German Rule Abound

One sees the marks of German domination everywhere — railway signs and notices, and even the streets bear German names. One wonders by which nation they have been treated the worst. The Prussians have looted the country, so have the Russians. The former carried 700,000 into Germany, the latter forced millions to accompany them in their retreat, and many of these starved to death, and those who are now returning are beggared, and their homes in ruins. Many have no money with which to buy rye bread, let alone seed for planting. Can this generation ever forgive the Russians for the unwarrantable wholesale removal of these people from their homes, or the Germans for impressing the large number they did to work for them, leav[illegible] wise unfit

Americans As Drinkers Of Water

In spite of their tremendous annual bill for fiery liquors the American people are notoriously a race of water drinkers. The fact has always been commented upon with amazement by foreigners, and especially the American habit of taking the water iced. It has also been mentioned with scientific pain by many of our own medical experts, who have tried to impress us with the dangers of the habit. A friend is reminded by the impending menace to send us this clipping of an ancient and familiar quatrain:

Many a mortal, young and old,
Has gone to his sarcophagus.
Through pouring water, icy cold,
Adown his warm esophagus.

The author of that bit of scientific morality is not known. Our friend says he clipped it from The Chicago Tribune some years ago, and possibly it is to be credited to Eugene Field. Anyway, it sounds something like him. But we are not sure that it is scientifically correct. There are many who still persist, in spite of the warnings, in the theory that the drinking of ice water, under reasonable conditions, is in no way harmful.—Providence Journal.

to obtain what she wanted. On this historic occasion a Bolshevik general by the name of Scalou, formerly of the Russian army, shot himself in an adjoining room rather than sign the disgraceful and humiliating document.

The old Russian fortifications and barracks were among the largest in Europe and like everything else in this city have been destroyed by the Russians in their retreat. It may seem interesting to note in passing that this was a great center for "white slavery," and that this traffic was carried on by the Jews.

I visited a large war cemetery here, where in addition to the hundreds of wooden crosses that marked German soldiers' graves, there is a large square stone monument erected over, I am told, 10,000 bodies of Germans buried in an immense pit (the number may be an exaggeration). A gruesome thought, but one with which we have long since become familiar.

While there is a large illiterate class, the common people are not stupid, and a little Polish school girl, in reply to the question "what is an idea" gave the following answer (which unconsciously expressed the situation existing in Europe today) "an idea is what is opposed to the government."

One of the sad incidents among the many which have occurred during the past four years is that in the retreat of the Russian army before the advancing Germans in 1915, they carried off millions of Lithuanians, Poles, and Russians who had settled in Poland, destroying property, and not only leaving a desolate waste in their wake, but starvation to face the few who through love of country might survive and wish to return. I understand from Count —— —, a member of our Commission, that 4,000,000 were carried off in this terrible retreat, and even under such conditions the Russians could not resist their passion for pleasure. At Kiev, 10,000 of these poor victims were concentrated in a camp in the center of the race course during which time races were being held and for four days they were without food, and many died. Cattle were corralled and similarly left without food and water.

Swarms Of Refugees Return

In every direction one sees swarms of refugees returning to where they once had homes. Three years of hardships have left an indelible stamp of sadness and resignation on their faces which makes one wonder if the horrors they have seen might not, partially at least, parallel those described by Dante and Virgil. In many cases only fragments of families are coming back, as death has carried off uncountable numbers, and those we see on our tour of mercy are indescribably miserable, the majority without money and with only the rags which cover their poor tired bodies. They are being brought by the thousands in box cars, men, women and children all packed together like so many cattle, and yet each little group, as it reaches its destination, bravely faces hardships greater than you or I would care to face. They only ask for such assistance as will enable them to cultivate the little patch of land which they have not seen for nearly four years. They are even content to live in "dugouts" until the time comes when they can rebuild. A courage truly remarkable under the circumstances.

The Aprowizacja issues a small amount of flour at irregular intervals, and as many have not the money with which to purchase, they are obliged to be content with a thin barley soup and a piece of rye bread which is given out at one of the "soup kitchens" once daily. This they supplement by collecting nettles, dandelions, mushrooms and grass. Many are unable even to obtain salt, while the fats are almost entirely absent. My powers of description are unfortunately unequal to the task I have undertaken in trying to draw this picture of the condition in which Poland finds herself at the present moment.

The Red Cross is fulfilling its humane obligations by supplying the hospitals with food, medicine and equipment, and aids in many ways to meet the more pressing needs.

Typhus, the inevitable concomitant of war, stalks arm in arm with death, and strikes here and there, the fit equally with the unfit falling victims to this dread complaint, and in the light of our present knowledge, knowing how to prevent its spread, and eventually make it a disease of ancient history, we feel particularly anxious to have the support of the entire world for a cleaning up campaign. It can be done if everybody will pull together.

Castle Of Late Tsar

May 12 we arrived at the forest of Bialowieska, and the castle of the late Tsar of Russia. The forest is one of the largest in Europe, and here Alexander II used to hunt, as evidenced by the very attractive lodge we are told he built and was in the habit of occupying. Tsar Nicholas built a handsome castle, which we were privileged to see, and which we were told was occupied by the King of Bavaria during the recent war. It has been entirely dismantled, but, fortunately, not destroyed and should make a fine sanitarium. The scenery from the palace and grounds is superb. The picturesque approach by the lake and the return through the village, with its quaint thatched cottages, and the attractive Royal Chapel remind me of a scene in Switzerland.

The forest is 1,150 square versts in extent, and is the home of the bison, wild boar, lynx, wolf and an abundance of bird life, making it an elysium for the hunter. The Germans built an immense mill for sawing lumber, several smaller ones, a large wood alcohol distillery, an excelsior factory, as well as a tar producing establishment, etc. As these industrial plants have not been destroyed, I judge it must have been that the European Octopus imagined his position here quite secure or else could not return to destroy as in other places. The mills only need belting in order to resume operations, and the Red Cross is trying to secure this necessary part of the equipment when they will be able at once to employ 10,000 men and furnish needed material for building. This is the one thing in Poland that offers promise of immediate returns.

Poland has, I believe, been called the "granary of Europe," and seeing the country as we are doing, under the most favorable auspices, one can readily believe that such may easily have been the case, and certainly she can again become a wonderful grain growing country. The present areas of arable land are well adapted for cultivation by American methods, and the marsh lands could be drained and turned to valuable account. Labor, I am informed, now that so many refugees have returned, may be easily obtained, and the peasants are an easily managed and likeable people.

China Political Notes From Chinese Press

A Presidential Mandate Sunday abolished the Directorship for the Bureau of War Participation. General Tuan Chi-jui was appointed Director of the Border Defense Bureau by the same Mandate.

Mr. Liu Shih-chun, former Minister to the Court of St. James, will be asked to accept the Ministry to Tokio. A departmental head of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs has been sent to Shanghai to urge Mr. Liu to accept the office.

According to a telegram of the Shantung Provincial Assembly, all Shantung resents the Japanese aggression. Unions have been inaugurated in cities and villages for self-protection and they propose to demand the abolition of the Japanese Consulate-General in Tsinanfu, the payment of indemnity by Japan for the damages done to the Tai Kong Company, which was wrecked by Japanese rowdies, as well as for damages to illegally arrested students and farmers and the punishment of the Japanese gendarmes and rowdies who participated in the recent assault.

General Tsen Chun-hsuan has telegraphed that Mr. Tang Shao-yi has consented to resume his office as the Southern chief peace delegate, and would welcome Mr. Chien Nung-hsun as the Northern delegate.

All motorcars bought by the Border Defense Corps have been delivered. Troops are being trained to drive them, and when they can do so, the despatch of troops will begin.

The Cabinet telegraphed Shen Ming-chang, Civil Governor of Shantung, asking him to remain, and informing him that negotiations with the Japanese Minister are going on to air the grievances of the Shantung merchants and students. He is asked to instruct his people to wait for a settlement quietly.

General Chen Yi of Urga wires that the second conference called by Semenoff at Chita will certainly be held. But Outer Mongolia, hearing of the advance of the Peking expedition, will not participate. He requests that the Border Defense Corps be urged to start immediately so as to consolidate the allegiance of the Mongolians.

Swimming

Tomorrow evening the third mid-week swimming gala of the 1919 series organised by the committee of the Rowing Club is scheduled, when the following program will be worked through:

1—Three-lengths handicap (preliminary heats).
2—Two-lengths handicap (final heat).
3—Plunge for distance (handicap).
4—Flying squadron team race.
5—Water polo match.

Close finishes in the straight swimming events are expected, and a fine race is anticipated in the final of the two lengths handicap when Featherstonhaugh and Brodie will be matched, both off the same mark.

The water polo game will probably be between two picked sides composed of members of the Club, as it is felt that the Rowing Club players need a little further practice in team work before they essay conclusions with a VII from any of the other clubs. The Club's first game in the 1919 league series is on Thursday against the Police at the Municipal bath.

The gala tomorrow evening begins at 9.15 o'clock prompt, and admission is free to all spectators.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Egg Drying Machinery

The Milk Drying Machinery Co., of Chicago, Ill., U. S. A., who have sold a number of egg-drying machines throughout China, will open an office and wareroom in Shanghai in the near future, where both the single and the double unit machines will be kept in stock, which will insure immediate deliveries.

There will also be kept on hand furnaces, pumps and all extra parts which may be needed to repair worn or damaged sections of the machinery.

The office will be in charge of Mr. A. F. Doyle, of Chicago. A uniform c. i. f. price will be quoted to all importing firms, and to our special representative, through which channels our machines will be sold.

The erection of the machines will be superintended by Messrs. B. J. Smith, P. Garretson and C. E. Howser, who have been overseeing this work in China for the past three years.

We are registering our five letters patent with the several American consulates in China. These patents fully cover our method and process and all infringements will be vigorously prosecuted, as will the users of the product made on any machines that infringe our patents.

Owners of egg factories desiring to install our machines for use early next season are advised to place their orders as soon as possible, as considerable delay in transportation and installation cannot be avoided.
